On Fifty-Mile Front.

Von Mackensen's line, at latest accounts, extends from Belgrade eastward to Golubatz, about a fifty-mile front. It is a formidable line, built by bit, but has advanced within the Serbian frontier no more than ten miles except at a few points.

The Bulgarians are on the offensive along the entire Serbian eastern frontier, and across it, here and there, especially in the extreme northeast, southward to the vicinity of Strumitsa, where the allies have repulsed them.

Much of the fighting is in the mountains, the weather has turned very bad, and the troops suffer intensely. Losses are heavy everywhere.

Germans Direct New Drive Against Belgians, Who Suffer Heavily

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The Germans are trying to break the Belgians' section of the western war front, advice from the fighting zone said today.

Between Dixmude and Xpres, their bombardment is reported to have been terrific for two nights. The Belgians are declared to be holding their positions and to have repulsed several infantry rushes, though it is admitted that they have lost heavily.

It is believed that much damage was done by the French aerial bombardment of Treves.

Berlin Claims Repulse Of English and Progress Against the Russians

BERLIN (Via London), Oct. 18.—Progress, or at least the enemy's repulse, is claimed today in the war office's statement concerning the western and Russian war fronts, and in Serbia it is asserted that the enemy has been repulsed by the Germans and their Austrian and Bulgarian allies.

We repulsed repeated English efforts to capture our trenches northeast of Verdun, said the statement, "as well as French attacks at Tahir and Leintroy. The enemy was unable to recapture a single foot of ground at Schrettemann. Our aviators dropped sixty bombs at Bellet.

"On the eastern front we made good progress south of Riga; west of Illuxt we captured nearly two miles of the enemy's position. In the region south of Smolensk we repulsed repeated Russian attacks. Prince Leopold's forces broke down Russian assaults in the sides of the Lischewitsch-Baranowitsch railroad.

"South of Pogradec, in Serbia, we have captured about thirty miles south of the frontier, an important advance, and in the eastward the Bulgarians have secured the heights of the Dobrovo, and Babinska. South of Belgrade we are advancing against Kotevcevo, Vron, and the Macva region, the enemy retreating.

Moscow Under Martial Law After Outbreaks

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Moscow, the old capital of Russia, is under martial law. An imperial ukase, it is officially announced from Petrograd, has been issued, proclaiming a "state of war" in Moscow and the Moscow district.

Although the Petrograd dispatch does not mention the cause which brought about the ukase, it is believed here that poor labor, anti-German, and probably political riots, have again broken out in the city, which has been the center of the Russian radicals, and outbreaks there are not infrequent.

Disorders of considerable proportion have occurred in Moscow during the last few months. These have been attributed in the London Times correspondent at Moscow, under date of September 23, and just published here, to a question. The correspondent says:

"There is a dark cloud over Russia. Food has become much dearer, not because it is less plentiful in the country as a whole, but because the trains which in time of peace would be carrying provisions are now carrying only military stores, reserves going to the front, and wounded coming back."

INQUEST DISCLOSES ZEPPELIN HORRORS

Father of Victim Denounces Kaiser for Death of Innocent Poor.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Horror of Wednesday night's Zeppelin raid on London were told in more detail at further inquests today on persons killed by the German aerial bombardment.

The coroner, however, favored formal verdicts, suggesting that no useful purpose could be served by denunciations of Germany.

"I protest against this," said the father of one of the victims, rising in court. "My son was murdered by the Kaiser's order. I am now here to tell you to meet me at the judgment seat of God and answer for the death of my son and other poor people."

Existence showed that, in one vicinity, several persons died in hospitals from the shock of their experience.

In another place a motor bus was demolished and the driver, conductor, a special constable, and several others in the vicinity were killed.

One bomb broke a big water main and killed and injured a number of persons. A police inspector testified that ten candlesticks and incendiary bombs were dropped in one vicinity in three minutes.

DANIELS EXPECTS CONGRESS TO O. K. HIS NAVY PROGRAM

Secretary Knows Strong Elements Oppose Preparedness, But Looks for Victory.

PADGETT APPROVES PLAN

Agrees on Necessity of Five-Year Program, But Isn't Committed to Estimates.

"I believe that the program for the navy will be substantially approved," said Secretary of the Navy Daniels today in talking about the Navy Department recommendations for increase of the navy, and for a program reaching over a five-year period.

Secretary Daniels takes this view with the full understanding that there are strong elements in Congress who are opposed to any increase in the navy, and some pacifists who think the United States will never be involved in a conflict.

Hasn't Heard Protests.

The Secretary talked over various phases of his situation with respect to the outlook for the navy program. He said he had not received protests from any of the leaders in Congress known to entertain extreme pacific views. He has not consulted with the House Naval Committee as a whole, but has conferred at length with chairman Padgett.

Mr. Padgett agrees that the five-year program should be put through, and that there should be an increase of the navy, he said. "He is not committed to the details of the estimates."

In the view of Secretary Daniels the opposition to naval programs in the past is not a safe guide to the present situation. He believes that the developments in Europe and the tremendous interest in the country in taking in preparedness will cause Congress to act. Without criticizing the "very able and excellent men" in Congress who are against any preparation, he does not believe either Congress or the country is with them.

May Enlarge Program.

Secretary Daniels says he believes the moderation and reasonableness of the program will commend itself to the good sense of Congress. On the other hand, he looks for strong efforts to enlarge the program. A fight will be made to have the construction program which he would extend over five years completed in two or three years.

"This program has been worked out with the facilities of the country for construction," said Secretary Daniels.

He was asked whether it would be a matter of fact he would be able to construct the dreadnaughts, cruisers, and other craft proposed within five years. He said that if needed, under pressure, with three shifts of men, almost anything could be done in five years.

To Be Foremost Subject.

With the President planning in the near future to speak in New York on national defense, and open the fight for preparedness legislation this winter, and with evidence of support from many quarters for an enlarged navy and navy, it is clear that national defense is going to be the foremost subject before Congress at the coming session.

One new fact with respect to the program of Secretary of War Garrison, which is less plentiful in the country as a whole, but because the trains which in time of peace would be carrying provisions are now carrying only military stores, reserves going to the front, and wounded coming back."

Congressman Campbell Passes Through Capital, Predicting Hard Fight

Accusing the Democracy of a "betrayal" of the policy of national defense, Congressman Philip P. Campbell, of Kansas, talking Republican member of the Rules Committee of the House, passed through Washington today and predicted a stirring campaign in 1916.

"The Republican slogan in 1916," he said, "will be the fallacy of the Democratic tariff and the general ineptitude of the party to rule. The Administration's vacillating policy in Mexico will be under fire and the Democratic Republicans will line up for a liberal program and will be consistent therein. Only the Democrats have had to 'hop' on this question."

"I am confident the G. O. P. will carry the country next year on a policy attacking the general incapacity of the Democratic opposition."

Friends Declare Page Has Tired of Post

In spite of official denials, friends of Ambassador Page, at London, declare he is tired of his post and wants to return to civil life.

Page is said to feel that expenses are unduly high. Persons close to him say they believe he will resign, and some of them think his resignation has already been sent in.

The ambassador at Madrid, Joseph E. Willard, some time ago asked for leave and recently canceled his request. This has led to the inference that he may expect to succeed Page.

Whole of Villa's Navy Taken by Carranzistas

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 18.—The entire Villa navy has been captured on the Pacific coast by a Carranza fleet, according to a message received here today by the Carranzista agency.

The "navy" consisted of the gunboat Bonita, while the "fleet" comprised the constitutional gunboats Guerrero and Corrigan II.

FIGHT FOR DEFENSE TO BEGIN AT ONCE

Wilson to Fire Opening Gun in Movement at New York Within Two Weeks.

before the next Democratic national convention assemblies in June, there will have developed an irreconcilable break between the President and Mr. Bryan.

Apparently the President is not in the least afraid to meet the issue. He has made it known that he will talk on national defense before the Manhattan Club, and his friends declare that he is prepared to give some straight-from-the-shoulder talk which will draw a sharp line between the protection he assumes and that assumed by Mr. Bryan and his followers.

Because of the widespread effect which the coming fight is bound to have on the destinies of the Democratic party, politicians in both parties are awaiting the speech with keenest interest.

Receives Memorial.

President Wilson received today from the Maryland League for National Defense a vigorous memorial urging him to use all the influence in his power to persuade Congress to provide adequate land and naval defenses for the United States.

The memorial was left with Secretary of the League, Joseph P. Tumulty, this morning by J. P. French, French secretary of the league, and was signed by Governor Goldsborough, United States Senator John Walter Smith, Congressman Charles P. Condy, J. Charles Lathrop, J. Fred C. Talbot, Judge Robert P. Henderson, of the Fourth circuit court of Maryland, Stephen A. Williams, Waldo Newcomer, Charles T. Crane, R. Brent Keyser, H. Crawford Black, J. J. Neilligan, W. C. Bell, Bruce, E. H. Moore, R. W. Water, Dr. Hiram Woods, J. Edwin Webster, C. W. Mitchell, Dr. J. M. T. John, Carl H. Gray, George M. Mary, John T. Stone, J. D. Baker, and Judge Charles Burke, of the Maryland court of appeals.

Of No Particular Party.

It tells the President that the signers are of no particular party, and have no desire to create a spirit of militarism, but asks whether the United States should be left at the mercy of a foreign foe because opponents of better preparedness raise the bogey cry of militarism.

Mr. French explained that a delegation was to have presented the memorial to the President in person, but that the dedication of the new temple, at the fact that it comes from a State which surrounds the city, was a consideration, and from people who are apprehensive of the fate which Washington might suffer if a foreign army at the close of the present war succeeded in effecting a landing in this country.

Members of Congress To Be Deluged With "Defense Petitions"

Announcement is made today that members of Congress are to be deluged with "national defense petitions," on December 8, which has been designated by the American Defense Society as "defense day."

The society also asserts that it will seek to advance the movement for a change in the law relating to administration of the city of Washington at that institution may at all times be full.

WOMEN WILL PLAN MISSION LABORS

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Washington City will meet tomorrow morning in Gurley Memorial Church, with Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe presiding. Reports will be presented by Mrs. W. E. Boulter, Mrs. Frank P. Edgington, Miss Mabel Main, and Miss Marjorie Little. Mrs. Russell B. Taylor, treasurer, will present plans for the winter work for missionaries, hospitals, and schools in Syria, West Africa, Korea, China, Siam, and India. The girls last year amounted to $500. Mrs. J. A. LeClere will speak of missionary interests at the Panmun position, and Miss Isabella Campbell, of the Church of the Covenant, will describe her visit to the Luchett School for the children of missionaries in an out-of-the-way district of Korea.

The devotional service will be led by Mrs. Douglas Putnam Birnie.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, sniffling, blowing, headache, dizziness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic, heating cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through the passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.—Adv.

U.S. TO PROBE STORY OF MUSE OF FLAG

May Send Sharp Protest as Result of Charge of Killing Submarine Crew.

Growing out of affidavits filed with the State Department by Ambassador von Bernstorff, alleging a remarkable misuse of the American flag by the British patrol boat, Baralong, it is expected this Government will make an investigation. A protest to Great Britain is the possible outcome.

It is alleged part of the crew of a German submarine was shot down without quarter and that the shooting was begun while the Baralong was under American colors.

Secretary Lansing has not gone into the matter as yet. However, the State Department will not concern itself over the alleged outrages to Germans on the part of the English any more than it has concerned itself over any other outrages in this war.

It is concerned over the question of whether the British boat, according to lengths in using the American flag. It is a common thing for a naval vessel to use the flag of a neutral, but not to carry on actual hostilities under a neutral flag. In this case, the Germans allege the British boat fired while still under American colors.

The story came out several weeks ago but the affidavits filed with the department tell it in more detail. The affidavits assert that the British patrol boat, Baralong, flying an American flag, fired on the commander and ten men of a German submarine who were seeking rescue after their vessel had been sunk.

If the American Government on investigation satisfies itself the story is true, the protest to the British government is likely to be a sharp one. The abuse of the American flag in this case is alleged to have been particularly odious.

The affidavits were obtained at New Orleans from American multipliers of the British steamship Niagara, which was charged that while the submarine was shelling the Nicaraguan, the patrol boat, flying the American flag, came up, sunk the submarine, and when the German seamen were clinging to the Nicaraguan, threw them overboard, but fired on them, killing them, with the submarine commander.

It is said the submarine commander had allowed the crew of the Nicaraguan time to take their belongings, but when the British steamship, the Niagara, came up, the crew of the submarine was ordered to take no prisoners.

"Captain Manning, of the Nicaraguan, has issued a denial of the story. It is charged the occurrence happened August 15, when the Nicaraguan was near the mouth of the Amazon, in the Gulf of Mexico. The Nicaraguan has since arrived at New Orleans.

Rites Are Saddened By Taubman's Death

Twelve hours before the dedication of the Scottish Rite Temple, for which ceremony he had come to Washington, Judge Edward Teare Taubman, thirty-third degree Mason, first grand equerry of the Supreme Council, A. A. S. R., and sovereign grand inspector general of the Scottish Rite of South Dakota, died at the George Washington University Hospital this morning.

His death, which followed a stroke of paralysis suffered on the train last Thursday, has cast a shadow over the impressive services of today, attendant on the biennial opening of the supreme council at 10 o'clock this morning and the dedication of the new temple, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. His death, now en route to Washington from Aberdeen, S. D., and no action concerning his death will be taken by the council until the wishes of the family have been consulted.

Judge Taubman came to Washington in company with the Rev. Dr. Ashley, rector of the Episcopal church of Aberdeen, and when he became sick on the train a telegram was sent to Secretary General John H. Cowles, who met him at the train here and took him to the hospital. Dr. Ashley was with him at the time of his death.

Documents in Winter Case Ordered by Court

On motion filed by McLanahan, Burton and Culbertson, in behalf of Mahlon A. Winter, Justice Siddons has issued an order calling for the production of certain documents believed to be vital to the issue raised in a suit filed against Colonel Winter by William Henry White, trustee, for Mrs. Erminie L. Winter. This action was for the collection of a sum of money alleged to be due Mrs. Winter, from whom Mahlon A. Winter was granted a divorce January 14, 1908. The alleged indebtedness was reported at the time as unpaid alimony, but there was no alimony at all because divorce was granted Mr. Martin.

TEMPLE DEDICATED BY SCOTTISH RITE

Sudden Death of Chief Equerry Saddens Notable Ceremony of Masons.

Finished before the hour for the dedication. The afternoon ceremony began with the entrance of the supreme council, while the Scottish Rite choir of St. Louis and Louisville, accompanied by the St. Louis Scottish Rite orchestra, rendered the processional. Mendelssohn's chorus, "The Righteous Are Living Forever," by the Louisville choir, was the second number.

Feature of Service.

The elements of consecration, the chief feature of the service, included the initiation by water, by Lieut. Grand Commander, Charles E. Roschbaum; sprinkling with oil, by Grand Prior Charles F. Buck; sprinkling with wine by Grand Chancellor Ernest H. Hussey; sprinkling with wheat, by Grand Minister of State Travanion W. Hugo; sprinkling with corn by Grand Almoner Adolphus L. Fitzgerald; and sprinkling with salt by Grand Master of Ceremonies Samuel P. Cochran.

A choral response followed each separate consecration and at the conclusion of that part of the dedication the grand commander lighted the incense while the chorus chanted "Te Deum."

The closing address was made by the grand commander and the banner of the order was unfurled while the chorus sang Custance's "We March to Victory." A fanfare of trumpets the unfurling of the United States flag and the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by the assembly closed the program.

The atrium, the first room entered, is finished simply but elegantly, and is one of the most beautiful in the building. On the north side of the main floor and to the right of the entrance is the grand commander's suite of rooms, and opposite it is the suite for the grand secretary.

On the lower floor is a smaller council room where the supreme council will hold its executive sessions, and there are a number of smaller rooms that may be used for committee meetings and conferences.

On this floor there is also a large dining room and two small private dining rooms. The large room is capable of seating 600 persons, and there is a complete kitchen large enough to prepare meals for a like number.

The temple, which was dedicated today was erected at a cost of about $2,000, and has been characterized as "exquisite masonry carved in stone." It is the third building to be occupied by the mother council of the rite, the first being a small structure that is still standing in Charleston, S. C., where the council held its gatherings until 1841. In that year the Scottish Rite Cathedral in Washington was dedicated, and has housed the council for thirty-one years.

No other building in the world occupied exclusively by a Masonic order, is as imposing or so architecturally perfect as the new temple. It has a frontage of 217½ feet on Sixteenth street, occupied entirely by a broad flight of steps, and a depth of 212 feet on 8 street.

Every feature is symbolic and unite to emphasize the characteristics of the order. The broad steps are divided into flights of three, five, seven and nine. The numbers of the ritual. The great pyramidal room is supported by thirty-three monolithic columns, representing the thirty-three degrees of Masonry. And most imposing of all are the two great apophyses on either side of the main entrance, each carved from a single stone weighing 110.90 pounds.

Even a King can't dictate what you should like or not like

If it so happened that Fatimas were originally "Made and blended for the King of Whatiz"—would that fact prove that you were going to like Fatimas best?

It would not.

A man's taste is his own. A cigarette that might delight some old potentate's palate would not necessarily please you.

That's why we leave Fatimas up to your taste.

But there is something more than good taste that is mighty important to you.

No matter how good-tasting a cigarette may be—it can only be the SENSIBLE cigarette for you if it is comfortable, too.

Its pure tobacco must be cool and comfortable to your throat at all times. And it must leave you feeling fine and fit at the end of a hard-smoking day.

Will it do all that?

Then, it is the sensible cigarette for YOU.

There are thousands and thousands of men who believe that Fatima is the most sensible cigarette there is.

Try them yourself. You may discover—as these thousands of other men have—that Fatimas have just the cool, mellow taste that you've been longing for in a cigarette.

You may find that Fatimas have the kind of mildness which allows you to smoke more of them than you might of other cigarettes.

Opposition Voiced to New Ruling Compelling Them to Pass Ellis Island Inspectors.

Heated opposition to a new regulation of the Immigration Bureau which will compel second class passengers to undergo the same inspection at Ellis Island that steerage passengers are subjected to was voiced by a committee of fifty representatives of transatlantic steamship lines at a hearing before Secretary of Labor Wilson today.

The steamship men charged that the regulation was imposed to provide jobs for the immigration force at Ellis Island whose work has been greatly lessened by the decrease in incoming European traffic.

If the regulation is enforced, steamship representatives declared, more of the incoming business at New York will be lost as second class passengers from Europe, objecting to be classed in the same category with immigrants, will take passage on ships disembarking at the ports of Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Boston, and the Atlantic ports of Canada, while South and Central American passengers will disembark at Key West.

Congressman John J. Eagen, of the Hoboken, N. J. district, and other Hoboken representatives declared that enforcement of the new order will work serious injury to Hoboken, as second class passengers, now disembarking there, will be taken from Ellis Island to the Battery.
